

1746 Blake Street
Denver, Colorado
80202

303.296.7725

FAQ

Are These Real?

Yes.

They are not reproductions, replicas, copies, or anything other than just antique maps. The date we state when describing an item is the date when the map was published, not a facsimile of it, but actually when it was made. If you notice a "c.", or "ca." in front of a date that means we aren't certain of the exact date, but we are sure of it's period and a pretty general date.

If something isn't old, we will state it right away. But, if you aren't sure on something, feel free to contact us.

Where Do You Get Them?

We search constantly, and looking high and low. Auctions, sales, and even people coming to us have been on-going sources for material. We travel quite a bit in our hunt for material, which can find us anywhere from Paris to rural Iowa. More so, after almost two decades in business, we've accumulated a sizable inventory, and have a lot to offer.

Do You Have More Than What's Online?

Oh yes, we have much more than we have listed online, always feel free to contact us with requests to see other things.

Do We Buy Maps?

Sure! Feel free to contact us if you have something that might be to our interest.

Do You Have A Store?

Yep! We have been located in historic downtown Denver for the last fifteen years. You can visit us at;

The Old Map Gallery
1746 Blake Street
Denver, CO. 80202

or call us at 303.296.7725